WHAT WOULD YOU DO?—Suppose you were a fireman charged with the safety of a great business block. And suppose you should discover an incipient blaze, which, if not promptly subdued, promised to burst into a tremendous conflagration, to consume not only the property in your keeping, but scores of adjoining tenements, housing thousands of men, women and children?

And suppose that when you had used your handiest hose and put out that threatening blaze, an officious fellow citizen should come panting along and shriek into your ear:

"Why in the dickens did you put out that fire? Why didn't you INVESTIGATE? It might have been set on fire."

What would you say to that fellow?

About what Mr. Wilson has said to Mr. Hughes re the 8-hour-day law, eh? Only more emphatically, and less courteously, perhaps.

A STORY OF THE MILK FAMINE.

—New York babies were starving for milk.

Less than a quarter of the usual supply was to be had.

Wagons were mobbed in the tenement quarters for the milk that meant life to suffering little ones.

Crowds surged about the milk supply depots.

Through one of these crowds pushed a maidservant, and by dint of argument and a hint of tears she got one pint.

Then back to the auto, in beside the chauffeur, and off up the avenue.

Her mistress, watching anxiously from the window, spied the machine coming, with the little white bottle between the pair on the front seat.

She leaned over a perfumed satin basket.

"Oo'll have 'oo milk today, 'oo little dear!" she said.

She reached into the soft cushions, brought forth a tiny bundle, and showered kisses on the little nose of a pampered Pomeranian puppy!

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

E. B. Conn of Bethlehem, Ind., recently papered Beech Grove church, which adds much to the church.—Trimble (Ky.) Democrat.

There's not a Democrat on President Wilson's commission to investigate the workings of the eight-hour day. Will Candidate Hughes make an issue of this?
